The Hard Rock Cafe

Situated in the heart of London, The London Hard Rock Cafe is the one that started everything off, standing on Old Park Lane since June 14th 1971. The cafe attracted customers from day one with first-rate but moderately priced casual American fare (available no-where else in London or the UK at the time), warm service and ubiquitous Rock 'n' Roll music and sensibility - Hard Rock Cafe London became an instant classic.

The Lower Ground Floor caters for 100 guests seated, 250 guests standing and 75 for a conference. This venue is a must for all rock fans as it houses the first piece of memorabilia ever to be donated, Eric Clapton's Lead II Fender guitar. The vault where this is housed is situated underneath the Rock Shop so you will be dining among rock royalty (almost!). The Hard Rock London houses the most extensive collection of memorabilia within the Hard Rock Family.

Not just for rockers, The Hard Rock Cafe is renowned for producing straight forward food at a fantastic level. With its award winning 'Best Burger' and variety of pastas, salads and main courses there is something to suit everyone

For that wow factor The Hard Rock Cafe doesn't disappoint and with such a large spectrum of appeal who wouldn't like their party at The Hard Rock Cafe?
